

SAYS EDMONTON CHARTER EFFETE AND TIME WORN

and elevating them to the plane of 20th century commercialism.

Quoted President Elliot, President Elliot of Harvard University, had said that free government had broken down in the average American city; that state legislatures were taking away from the cities the right of self-government; and that the result had been public distrust and financial chaos, with the city hall becoming the grave yard of the hopes and ambitions of many a clean-handed, high-minded, and free-minded man. The Right Hon. James Bruce, in "An American Commonwealth," containing a criticism of American life, said that "the one conspicuous failure of the American people is seen in the government of the American city."

Since those opinions were written and expressed the white light of investigation had been thrown upon civic problems, and a new spirit of civic pride, responsibility and enterprise had been fostered, until during the last ten years there had been a wonderful change. They had witnessed in America the renaissance of civic responsibility. People were demanding that cities should rise from the impossible systems under which they had been governed. They were demanding that the men who gave their service to this work should be unfettered and unfettered in their desire to evolve policies worthy of the 20th century spirit.

Already Changes Have Come. Already changes had been brought about and there was a new dawn, until the conditions now lay fair to throw back another. These statements of a few years ago a record of administrative advancement, that would not only be a pride to the American people, but an inspiration to their sister cities in the civilized nations of the globe.

Where policies were a part of the civic government, a man was made a cog in the machine, and had either to grind with the machine or be ground with it. There was no reason for the duplication of the federal form of government. In the cities, the civic government should not represent one individual or one section of individuals, but should represent only the city itself.

Envisaged Edmonton's Utilities. "I envy you your publicly-owned utilities," said Mr. Hindley, "and I am glad that even as we have, come to your city and sit at your feet and learn of some of the things that you have done, but I marvel that you have been able to do so much with the effete and time-worn document that you call a city charter." A 20th century man, he continued, could not work with a 15th century work. They could not do fine cabinet work with

New Purcell and Foote Block, Fourth Street

Purcell & Foote have just completed a fine warehouse on Fourth street for N. W. Purcell and J. K. Kelly. The building is five stories high, and is 100 by 130 feet. It is built of red brick, with the Alp brick and is of mill construction type, with laminated floors, and is 10 feet with the latest fireproof doors and windows. It is steam heated and has four large elevators. Running through the building is an arcade 22 feet wide, the first of its kind in Edmonton. In all the building is one of the finest types of buildings of this character in the city.

It might almost be said that this is a "made in Edmonton" building, having been erected by Edmonton contractors and with Edmonton men to brick. It is but one of several fine buildings that have been erected the season of brick manufactured by the Alp brick, and the contractors speak very highly of the brick for building purposes, being easily laid and particularly free from bats and warps. They also compliment the company on their prompt service.

The Alp brick has struck such a popular chord with contractors and builders that the company have in contemplation the enlargement of their plant and the spending of a considerable sum of money to be even better able to supply the demand when the spring building season opens.

This building has been leased to the Western Cattle Co. to be used as storage warehouse.

a jack knife and saw. The age of the city candle, stage coach and ox team had gone by.

What Present System Brings. Under the present system, there were the usual too-rolling, bargain-basing trading, policies, each administrator trying to make good with the constituents of his own particular locality or ward. There might be no dishonesty, but it was not business efficiency. No business institution administered in that way could long remain solvent.

"We could not have managed so well as long as we have," said the speaker, "if in the last analysis we could not rely on the fairness and integrity of the Anglo-Saxon race."

Under Elective System. Under the elective commission form of government men would be selected because of their unblemished character, their business training and experience, and their merit and efficiency

—the kind of men they would select to lead their own private affairs. "Give me in a while," declared the speaker, "you find that type of man under the old system, but when you find him, and you mark the ballot opposite his name, you are simply endorsing the conditions that afterwards crush him so far as his ambitions are concerned."

What they wanted was the system under which they would not have the vote and obnoxious slaves party opinion and domination.

The times of property did not try a system half so much as the times of readjustment and re-adaptation. Some would say that the new system put too much power into the hands of a few men. His answer was that he was not afraid so long as the people themselves held the reins of government, effect at the same time by that great train of modern progress, the initiative, referendum and recall.

Government in this way could only exist with the consent of the governed. If the men who were elected to lead were guilty of malfeasance their removal was comparatively easy, as with their fixed responsibility they would stand without excuse or subterfuge before the selecting public.

"The charm of the system," said the speaker, "is that you always know where to put your finger on the man who made the mistake, or was guilty of the trick. Under the old system, a complaining citizen is handed about from pillar to post and is between the devil and the deep blue sea."

In this connection Mr. Hindley made a local reference which called forth volleys of cheers. "Under the new system," he said, "the complaint cannot be shelved on the other side of the street, the barn—(loud laughter)—the blame can be placed. (Cheers) And if he is not to blame for the car barn, he is not to be made the scapegoat of the administration either." (Cheers.)

Gave Concrete Examples. The lecturer gave a large number of concrete examples of the way the system had worked out in Spokane. He said there would be plenty of valuable material for the positions if the system were adopted in Edmonton. In Spokane they had 93 candidates for five seats. The system in Spokane had done much to lift the civic administration from former odium and distrust; it had won the approval of the business men and every newspaper; and while commissioners might come and commissioners might go, the system would forever remain.

LEGISLATURE WILL PROROGUE THIS EVE.

and "Truancy Act (amendments)" "Firebreaks" Law Act, "Infants' Act, Village Act (amendments), Town Act (amendments), Rural Municipality Act (amendments), Juvenile Courts, Game Act (amendments), License (ordinances), amendments), Liquor (amendments), and "Taxation of Clubs."

The taxation of clubs and new regulations providing that clubs which would provide meals and sleeping accommodation were passed without any opposition. Several members declared in favor of the provisions and J. K. McCullum, Newville, said he would like to drink out of clubs altogether.

Gen. Headley, Okotoks, caustically observed that from the way some men stayed out nights sleeping accommodation in clubs was very necessary.

Hon. J. R. Boyle—And what about jockeying?

Insurance Act Changes.

Hon. A. O. Mackay put up a fight for the amendments to the Insurance Act, which he said were asked for by local insurance men in order to prevent travelling agents being sent in from the outside of the province and lacing away the "plums." Mr. Mackay also contended that the province was being charged of fees and the Insurance Act by the system of sending men from south of the line or from Montreal, who took the insurance and charged it up in the books of the head office, so that it was not returned to the business done in Alberta and would not be dealt with by returns asked from the companies by the Insurance branch.

The Insurance amendments were stood over.

Marriage Licenses.

The looseness of the system of issuing marriage certificates was complained of by B. Bacon Hillsdale, Calgary North, who spoke of the number of cases of "bigamy" which arose through this cause. He suggested that there should be some delay in the completion of the ceremony after the license is applied for.

Hon. C. W. Cross asked whether Mr. Hillsdale would insist on the publication of banns.

Mr. Hillsdale said he did not know what remedy to suggest, but thought that the department of justice means means to overcome this objection. The publication of banns in the newspapers might prevent bigamy.

Libel Law Amended.

Two important amendments were made before the committee. The first was a change in the definition of the defendant in a libel action admitting the libel and shows that a full apology was published before the commencement of the action and that the libel was published in good faith and not to malice the plaintiff is entitled to enter a judgment for nominal damages of $5 and his costs up to that stage, or may proceed to trial, but shall, in the latter event only recover actual damages as he has sustained.

The second amendment was to the Libel Law. In cases where the defendant in a libel action admits the libel and shows that a full apology was published before the commencement of the action and that the libel was published in good faith and not to malice the plaintiff is entitled to enter a judgment for nominal damages of $5 and his costs up to that stage, or may proceed to trial, but shall, in the latter event only recover actual damages as he has sustained.

as prima facie proof and the case of proving that he is not the publisher of the paper will be upon the publisher. The latter clause does away with the formal proof that the defendant is the publisher of the paper where it is a matter of common knowledge that he is the publisher.

In connection with the Corporation Taxation Act, a telegram was read by T. M. Tweedie, Chief Clerk, from the Calgary board of trade, requesting the government to delay in acting the proposed legislation and stating that business men "view with alarm legislation which might affect increasing money into this province and feel that the government would be justified in giving more time to the consideration of the proposed measure."

Mr. C. H. Mitchell stated that the bill had been well advertised and those concerned had had ample time to make their representations. The bill did not contain anything of a radical nature.

LOCALS

The Girls' Friendly Society will hold a social in Holy Trinity church this evening.

Confirmation classes will be held by the rector of Holy Trinity church on Wednesday at 7:30 a.m. for girls and women; and at 8:00 p.m. for men and boys.

C.P.R. WILL BRING BUSINESS

The C.P.R. are planning for big business in the development of their business at Edmonton. Their yards at the South Side have been enlarged to the car capacity of the station.

The yard at the Jasper Avenue depot on the North Side of the river will be used for the transportation business.

During the past summer the round house on the South Side was enlarged. Now that the High Level bridge is in use, and the C.P.R. trains are operating too and from the Jasper Avenue depot, the next move of the Canadian Pacific is awaited with interest.

It has often been stated by rumor that the C.P.R. did not built the High Level bridge merely to get the Jasper Avenue depot. The money stringency has not affected the C.P.R. and when their contract is acted on, doubtless the company will be ready to make their move in the development of the North Side which will bring more business to the C.P.R. and incidentally to and through the City of Edmonton.

SOUTH SIDE CHURCHES

Metropolitan Methodist Church.—Sixth anniversary. Rev. R. E. Marshall, M.A., D.D., of Calgary Central Methodist church, will preach both morning and evening. Special service by an augmented choir. Monday evening at eight o'clock a grand concert will be given, presided over by Alderman H. R. Smith. There will be a special program of vocal and instrumental music and readings given by the leading talent of the city.

First Baptist Church.—Rev. H. McCall, M.A., D.D., minister. Services for the week commencing Sunday, October 26th: "The Saviour's Purpose for His Church" will be the theme in the morning. Before the sermon the minister will speak to his boys and girls about "The Telephone." Bring them to the service. The Sabbath school and Bible classes will meet at 10 o'clock. Strangers will be welcomed and assigned to classes. "The Problem of the City," the third in the series of Sunday evening studies upon the church and present day problems will be the subject in the evening. The choir will render Woodworth's "The Sun Shall Be No More Thy Light by Day." On Monday evening a mass meeting of the Baptist young people of the city will be held in the First Church, North Side. The final in the series of inter-church debates will be given when the First Church, South Side, and the MacDonald Memorial Church will discuss the question of a national standard for the churches. Each of these teams has won a debate and the deciding contest on Sunday evening should be good.

All the young people of the congregation are welcome. The national business meeting of the church on Wednesday evening next, and the annual congregational meeting and banquet the following Wednesday, November 13.

Knox Presbyterian Church. Main street. Pastor, Rev. E. McLaughlin. Sunday services: 11 a.m.—The pastor will give his monthly talk to children. 2 p.m.—Midweek service. The pastor will preach. EXTENSION DEPARTMENT OF VARSITY.

A. E. Ottewill, secretary of the department of extension of the University of Alberta, has returned from a trip to the C. & N. E. towns in the interests of his department. Through the medium of a provincial debating contest, the travelling libraries, and the course of extension lectures, the influence of the University is being extended to the far corners of the province.

PROVINCIAL DEBATING CONTEST.

Arrangements are being made for a debating contest between the High schools of the province. The agricultural schools also will enter the league. The schools are to be arranged where possible in groups of four. The winning teams of each group will debate with the winners of the nearest group in the same district. The two district winners will debate for the championship of the province of Alberta. The climax will come with a grand final debate for the provincial championship.

PROFESSOR TO TRAVEL TOO

Though situated at Edmonton, where students come by the hundreds to receive an education, the university does much to a larger body of students than that which comes to the university at various times throughout the province. C.N.R. TRAINS COMING TO EDMONTON SOUTH

Depot Nearly Ready—Ballooning Line From Canora—Important Link on New C. N. Line

Edmonton South expects soon to have a new railway service between Edmonton and Calgary via Canora. The new C.N.R. depot on 8th Avenue is fast nearing completion. The passenger depot is closed in and the ballast is just finishing the freight shed. The yards have been graded. The plans for the platform are there ready for placing.

A great of workers are busy down near the diamond crossing where a large supply of ties are in readiness for use on the grade.

Ballooning From Canora.

The ballast train are working their way from Canora towards Edmonton. They are bustling but their task is hindered because in some places on the grade the ties and even the steel rails sank out of sight in the soft grade when the heavy engine ran over the track in the wet weather.

Steel Ties Ready.

The steel ties will be made from Canora to the C.N.R. diamond crossing of the C.P.R. A little south of 4th Avenue and the diamond crossing will be installed in a few days and steel ties can be laid right up to the new C.N.R. line on 8th Avenue.

It is reported, on what ought to be good authority, that the steel will also be laid on the fall southwards to the new C.N.R. line to Calgary via Canora. The grading of the southwest line was done last year for about ten miles southwest of the city.

The completion of this rail travel into the community whose traffic for so long was monopolized by the C.P.R. is a historic event, and will have far-reaching results.

PRIZE WINNERS AT EASTERN ALBERTA SOCIETY'S FAIR

Annual Exhibition Held at Provost Proves Splendid Success—Exhibits of Horses, Wheat and Domestic Produce Were Features

Provost, Alta.—The third annual exhibition of the Eastern Alberta Agricultural Society was held at Provost, Oct. 9. The attendance was not so large as anticipated, owing to the chilly weather, but the gate receipts broke the two previous year's records. The livestock, in new uniforms, rendered an entertaining program of events. The exhibits of horses, wheat and domestic produce were excellent. The pure-bred cattle class was small, but the grades, dairy and beef were represented by some very good specimens. The Friesian-China hogs, belonging to E. Smith, the Berkshire and Yorkshire of A. McIntyre and E. Shaw's Duro-Jerseys were all first-rate. Some good specimens of utility birds were shown and the district is said to be much more interested in poultry than formerly. There was an elaborate display of household produce and fancy work. The collections of pickles, jams and preserves were very choice. A large and most excellent display of bread and cakes was shown. The largest exhibit of threshed wheat at any fair along this line was an attractive feature. The Flax, the Marquis and Chelsea varieties were well represented, as this is a good wheat district. It was remarked that the Chelsea was awarded first place for best bushel of wheat, although the Experimental Farm is discarding it. There were some choice samples of oats, barley and flax. Some of the more noticeable horses were the Belgian stallion, owned by E. Noden; the Percheron stallion, a splendid gray, owned by A. C. Portway; of Magill, Sask.; the fine Hackney rooster stallion of G. Owens, and Mrs. J. W. Allen's noble single driver, "Prince". The silver cup given by the Beaver Lumber Company, through Geo. A. King, local manager, for best animal at the fair, was won by J. G. McKay with his two-year-old heifer "Prairie Queen", 91 points. Mrs. J. W. Allen was second with her single rooster, "Prince", 89 points. J. H. H. Malloway, Stainesburg, showed some creditable stock. His grade beef cattle were deburred on account of not being halter broke. A few interesting races were run, the favorite horse being "Red Bird", owned by W. A. Ferguson, and "Cowboy", owned by A. Lewis. The judges were: Horses, J. A. Murphy; cattle, sheep and swine, A. H. Meyer; poultry, dairy produce and fruits, H. A. Pearson; vegetables, A. Bennett. The officers and directors of the society are: President, D. Scott; 1st vice-president, J. A. Weber; 2nd vice-president, G. W. Johnson; treasurer, James G. McKay; directors, G. E. Meiklejohn, D. A. Coutts, F. J. Pegg, C. Heichenrich, D. R. Ferguson, F. C. Wiggins, E. Watson, J. G. McKay, J. E. Penningly, J. McNeil. The society has accomplished a good work this year by the loyal cooperation of the officers and some of the directors, under the able presidency of Duncan Scott and the secretary, James G. McKay, upon whom devolved most of the work and the responsibility of the fair and to whose ability the success of this year's exhibition is chiefly due.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS IN PENITENTIARY IS SENTENCE IMPOSED
Oto Rudolf Acquitted of Murder Charge is Convicted of Attempted Murder.
JUSTICE SIMMONS SAYS JURY'S VERDICT CORRECT
Prisoner Accepts Sentence Without Display of Emotion of Any Kind.
(From Evening Edition)
Twenty-five years' imprisonment in the Alberta penitentiary was the sentence passed by Mr. Justice Simmons on the sixteen-year-old German boy Oto Rudolf, who was yesterday found guilty of having attempted to murder Fritz Maurer at Pierce, on July 24. The jury retired at 10:15 and returned at 11:30 with a verdict of guilty. In answer to the usual question, Rudolf declined to make any statement before the court passed sentence on him.
His Honor said: "It is a very hard thing to send a young boy to prison. Another jury gave you the benefit of the doubt as to the killing of Karl Hefing, but it is clear that you killed one companion, and then, within half an hour, tried to kill another. I am quite sure that this jury is right, in finding that you tried to shoot Fritz Maurer. I am afraid that the crime was largely the result of reading bad literature. You will have to undergo a very heavy sentence, and for two reasons. One is that it may serve as a warning to other young men. The other is that it would not be safe to allow you your freedom—at least the doubt as to the killing of Karl changed your character."
Young Rudolf received his sentence without displaying any emotion, and was immediately removed from the court in charge of Mounted Police officers.

TO APPOINT LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD

Minister of Municipal Affairs in Saskatchewan Promises Legislation at Forthcoming Session Providing for Non-Partisan Board Which Will Supervise Issuing of Bonds.
Regina, Oct. 22.—A local government board which will be free of all politics and which will consist of three members at the start to hold office for a definite term of years, will be appointed. The board was promised by Minister Geo. Lunn, minister of municipal affairs, at the conclusion of a conference this morning with the representatives of the cities of the province. While the term of years for holding office had not been settled it will be either for five or ten years. It was rumored by the government that the board will be appointed by the legislature at its coming session and will be entirely out of politics.
The other point, which was urged by a number of representatives, of a change of the method of collecting taxes, was declared by the minister to be of no bearing in nature that nothing could be done this session. He said that on consultation with the attorney-general it was found that the altering of the city act to make possible the collecting of taxes twice a year, with other features requested, would entail no more changes than it would be impossible to grant the request this year, but the scheme must be given every consideration and every phase of the situation must be carefully gone into before any legislation could be submitted in the matter.
In 1912 571 ocean vessels were built in German yards.

Examine the Map and See Why Fort Fraser Has the Greatest Location of Any Town on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in B.C.
Of late there has been much written regarding the wonderful agricultural districts surrounding Fort Fraser. A casual observation of the above map will prove conclusively that Fort Fraser has the geographical location to control all the trade of the vast agricultural areas of the interior.

Fort Fraser Today Offers More Inducements to Either the Large or Small Investor Than Any Western Canadian Town Ever Offered

Fort Fraser has the location, farming land, and is an old established trade center. No better investment can be found in Western Canada than either a large or a small investment in Fort Fraser property today. Look to Fort Fraser for your fortune and future happiness.
